One Child

Foster Care

Foster care is an opportunity to provide children who have experienced the trauma of abuse or neglect safe haven. We provide refuge to children ranging from birth to 17, from all racial and ethnic backgrounds. Foster parents are essential to providing stable, temporary homes that protect and nurture these children in the hope that their birth parents will become able.

Adoption

Unlike foster care, adoption is an opportunity for children to have a “forever family” when they are unable to live safely with their birth parents.

One Family

“It’s just been a life changing experience. Adopting seven kids through Family & Children Services and fostering 43 kids has been an experience of a lifetime. We have given our life to fostering kids and they always come back to visit for holidays, birthdays and weddings.”

Who makes a good foster parent?

People of all walks of life make good foster parents. Some are married or partnered; some are single, divorced or widowed; some own homes and some rent; some have children already in their home and some do not. All these different people do seem to have several common characteristics.

- 18 years of age or older
- Love children
- Stable income
- Able to commit to challenges
- Strong desire to make a difference

Making Connections

Share your heart and your home with a child.

Experience a powerful opportunity to develop an important relationship with a child or teen. You can make the difference in a child’s life right in your own home – few opportunities are quite so rewarding!

Use your parenting abilities and access training opportunities.

Feel the joy of helping a child through difficult times. Foster parent training will enhance your parenting abilities and help you understand the difficult issues young children and teens face.

Impact the future by helping families and children today.

Provide a child with a chance to grow physically, emotionally and socially in a safe, substitute family. Foster care is a nurturing environment where children can heal while their parents work on the issues which caused out-of-home placement.
